A well-deserved APPLAUSE for all the team members (you know who you are) that were engaged and collaborated to the successful and ahead of time exiting of the Los Angeles (Alameda L90) site. A project that began almost two years back was finally completed and the remediated site accepted by the landlord a couple of days back on the 28th of March. The tremendous impact of this project on our bottom line is a savings of approximately $2.4M US per annum!

No doubt a complicated project, the team rose to the meet the challenges. To quote the PM Danielle Jabbour: "failure was not an option and thanks to the motivation and talented staff, we managed to overcome various roadblocks."

This project in my mind should be considered as the benchmark for other projects to mimic.

To all the project team members, you should all take a bow. It is very well deserved!!!
